J. Milton Skeath Earns Doctorate In Psychology

J. Milton Skeath, professor of psychology, received the degree of doctor of philosophy at Pennsylvania State College this summer, at the post-session commencement.

Dr. Skeath qualified for his doctorate in the field of psychology.

"Life is too short to waste
In critic peep or cynic bark,
Quarrel or reprimand:
'Twill soon be dark;
Up! mind thine own aim, and God speed the mark!"

—RALPH WALDO EMERSON

His thesis was on the subject of social maladjustment.

For thirty-one years, Professor Skeath has been teaching mathematics and psychology here. He is a graduate of Dickinson College, Carlisle, and did work at the University of Pennsylvania before receiving his doctorate at Penn State College.

Always interested in athletics, Dr. Skeath was for a time the track coach here. For a number of years he was advisor of the yearbook. Last year Dr. Skeath was honored with the dedication of the 1952 Arrow.

Dr. Skeath is past president of the Williamsport Lions Club, an active member of the Masons, and is advisor to the college age class at Pine Street Methodist Church.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

DEAR ALUMNI:

A new college year has begun. The enrollment figures are about complete and are as follows:

Regular students (boarding and day) . . . 400

In addition there are 41 nurses taking part time work at the college.

97 are enrolled in night classes.

The enrollment of regular students represents a decline of 47 as compared to last year and 140 as compared to 1950.

Nothing is more important just now, as far as Lycoming College is concerned, than our enrollment. I am bringing this to your attention this early since you have been helpful in the past and I know you will want to be again.

We have 108 students whose relatives attended in other years. We greatly appreciate this. We do not have the number of those who have been recommended to Lycoming by our alumni. I wish we had that figure too and we may be able to get it but I am sure a number have come to us because of your recommendations.

High school seniors are already thinking about entering college in September, 1953. A number have already made their plans and others will do so during the first semester. Therefore, it is important if you can find time to help us, to get in touch with these people who ought to know about Lycoming. We ought to have a minimum of 600 regular students in order to maintain a good strong college. We cannot do this unless we have your help and the help of all friends of Lycoming. We shall, by correspondence, and if necessary personal visit, follow up the names of these persons whom you send to us. For that reason will you please send us only the names of those who are likely prospects for Lycoming. Again let me thank you.

Yours very truly,
JOHN W. LONG, President

With the opening of school comes thoughts of our alma mater, football games, dances, and homecomings. For all alumni of Lycoming College the big week end is October 24 and 25.

Friday night the festivities will open with the annual president's reception in Rich Hall, from 8:00 to 10:00. Mrs. Elizabeth Miller, dean of women, is chairmaning the event.

Lycoming Is Listed In Education Guide

Good news to all alumni of Lycoming College and its preceding institutions is the listing of Lycoming again in the new authoritative publication, "Accredited Higher Institutions, 1952".

The publication was released the end of September by the Office of Education of the Federal Securities Agency in paying tribute to accredited institutions.

Lycoming is cited in the publication with three accreditations—one from the regional association, one from state universities listing, and one from the state department of education.

The accreditation from the state universities is for unconditional admission to graduate schools. The accreditation from the state department is for general purposes according to the office of education compilation.

"This guide," said Dr. Earle J. McGrath, United States commissioner of education, "to the general standing of qualities of our institutions of higher education . . . is one of the most sought-after publications issued by the office of education." It has been published since 1917 at four-year intervals by the office of education and has been a valuable source of reference for students desiring information on the standing of institutions of higher learning.

On Saturday morning registration for all alumni will be held in the lobby of the gym before the festivities begin. As is the custom alumni and the parents of students will be guests of the college at a luncheon served in the college dining room immediately followed by a parade of Homecoming candidates for queen. Each fraternity and club has been invited to enter a queen in the parade.

The cars will leave the campus, tour the main streets of the town and return to the campus in time for the game. And now is the big surprise!

The championship game of intramural touch football will be played that day for the alumni and friends of the college. What is a homecoming without a game we said, and what good is a championship game without an audience? Put the two together and you come up with a wonderful traditional homecoming. As an added touch the alumni council will serve coffee and doughnuts during the game.

Again, following tradition, the candidates for Homecoming queen will be judged between the halves of the game and the queen will be crowned at that event.

A wonderful weekend of reunions, renewing old acquaintances and bringing back old memories will be climaxed by a Harvest Ball in which you can dance your way back to your undergraduate days.

What do you think? Sound wonderful? It will be, if you're here to make it so!

Local Alumnus, Richard Wolf, Has Four Songs Published

Have you heard "Susquehanna Moon", "My Only Love", "I'll Still Be In Love With You", or "One Dream"? These are the four compositions which have been written by Richard W. Wolf, alumnus of 1950 and were released recently by Broadway Music, Inc., in New York. The songs have been recorded by Kitty Crawford, lovely radio, television and recording artist, who was in town with Dick the day his first releases came out.

The ambitious and talented Dick will be remembered by many of the recent graduates as composer of three musicals "Student Life", "Sidney Goes to College", and "The Good Old Days". He's a member of Kappa Delta Rho social fraternity, formerly Theta Pi Pi, and a member of Alpha Psi Omega, honorary dramatic fraternity on campus. After leaving Lycoming in 1950, Dick returned for a year to work

BULLETIN

LYCOMING COLLEGE

Published Jan., Feb., April, July, Oct., Nov., by Lycoming College
 Jean Davies, Editor

Vol. 5 October, 1952 No. 5

Highlights of Summer Include Historic Gifts, Choir Honors

Throughout the summer many friends of Lycoming have visited the campus just to talk; some to see the changes that have been made since they were here. There have been but here are a few of the highlights

"Palm Grove Carole" written by R. Deane Shure, director of music at Mt. Vernon Place Methodist Church, Washington, has been dedicated to Walter G. McIver, choir director, and the Lycoming A Cappella Choir.

In 1939, Mr. McIver worked with the Harrisburg Symphony Orchestra on the premier presentation of a choral symphony written by Mr. Shure and since then the two musicians have been very much interested in each other's work. An invitation to sing at Mr. Shure's church has been extended to the choir for this year.

MUSIC PRESENTED

Mrs. S. Luther Jarrett, Montoursville, has presented 75 volumes of classical music to Lycoming College in the name of her son, Luther David Jarrett, as a memorial to his sister Myra who always talked of going to the Seminary. Among the albums are many Beethoven symphonies, operas by Mozart and Puccini, and Chopin waltzes.

The records have been added to the college collection in the John W. Long Library.

SADDLE BAGS

A pair of saddle bags have been presented to the college for the historical room by Miss Annie Stevens who attended Dickinson Seminary. They were used by her father when he was a circuit preacher.

ENDOWMENT

Securities equivalent to $5,000 were left to the college by Mrs. George E. Graff, widow of the founder of the Sun-Gazette Newspaper company, with the provision that the income will be used for the college library.

FOSILS

Several selected specimens from a collection of coal fossils have been on display for several weeks in the John W. Long Library.

These are part of a collection donated to the college by James P. Bresler of Williamsport.

Among the fossils which were found in the hard coal beds of Schuylkill County are imprints of fern fronds, carbonized horsetails and scouring rush which used to grow one foot in diameter and 30 feet tall.

Dr. Edward Hubler Publishes Book

Edward J. Hubler, class of 1923, has just published a book, "The Sense of Shakespeare's Sonnets", Princeton University Press.

Dr. Hubler, as a student called "Ted", is associate professor of English at Princeton University. He has taught at American Army Universities at Shrivensham, England, and Biarritz, France. He went to Europe on Fulbright award and was visiting professor at the Universities of Toulouse and Bordeaux during 1950-51.

Dr. Hubler received his bachelor of arts degree from Wesleyan University in 1927 and his master of arts degree from the same institution a year later. In 1934 he received his doctorate from Princeton University.

Mrs. Teno Awarded Master's Degree

Mrs. Edward Teno, instructor in secretarial science at Lycoming College, has been awarded the master of education degree from Pennsylvania State College.

A native of Washington, Mrs. Teno was graduated from Bucknell University with a bachelor of science degree.

"Success treads on the heels of every right effort."

as publicity director for his alma mater. Last year was spent pounding the sidewalks of New York to find a publisher for his masterpiece.

Now Dick is president of Susquehanna Productions, Inc., a road company established to put on musical plays. The first presentation, "The Woodsman", by this company was produced as part of the Pennsylvania Week celebration in Williamsport.

"The Woodsman" is a two-act musical set in the scene of the colorful lumbering days of Pennsylvania and deals with the trials and problems of a lumber camp in this area. Included in the score are 22 songs, four of which are recorded, and are now being distributed through the nation's radio stations and music outlets.

Local alumni in the cast of Dick's latest work include Al Mortimer, Francis Toohey, both members of the class of 1950.

Several of the students on campus are also in the cast.

1947-48 Mrs. R. K. Jordan (Zoe C. Medinal) is now living in Stearn's Village, Tufts College, Apt. K-4, Medford, Mass., where her husband is attending college. They have three children.

1948—Since the death of her father Miriam Jean Lehman and her mother have moved to Harrisburg, Pa.

Mrs. Jeffrey, a former instructor at Lycoming, visited the campus during the summer. She was working at Eagles Mere this summer.

1949—Bruce Smay, who is now preaching in Avis, was seen on the campus when the Northeastern Jurisdictional Methodist Youth Group were here the week of July 20. Winifred was down here to dinner a couple of nights with her husband.

1950—Cecil E. Cleveland, Jr., began on Sept. 1 as head of Inter-library Loan for the twelve-branch Baltimore County Public Library system at Towson, Md.

Eleanor M. Kraft is working at Jeanes Hospital, Fox Chase, Philadelphia 11, Pa.

On a visit to Mountain Beach during the summer we saw Harold Hurwitz, the one from Williamsport, relaxing in the sun. He told us he was in the service, stationed in Washington, D. C., and just home for the weekend.

Also noticed Sally Mamolen Hand and son enjoying the water, while Pete Houtz and wife soaked up the sunshine.

The Rev. Harold A. Ammons is pastor of Back River Methodist Church in Maryland while he finishes up his last year in Seminary—Westminster, that is.

Bill Bronson spent a week end recently with his former roommate, Dick Wolf, who is busy producing another show. (see story, page 1).

Janet E. Brown is in New York working as a Powers model! Yes, men, we said Powers model.

Ex-'50—Heard that Mrs. Gilbert S. Maton (Joann Thompson) has moved to Falls Church, Va.

1951—Donald Hamm stopped by for a visit during his vacation from his job as an accountant in the cost department of Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp., Cleveland.

Bill Stout has accepted a teaching position in Ulysses public schools, Ulysses, Pa.

Nancy Noah spent most of her summer recovering from a very severe case of appendicitis. She has started nurses training at the University of Pittsburgh.

Met Frances Toohy down at George's quite often during the summer and came home with her just the other day after a scout meeting. She's working with the girl scouts in case you've forgotten.

Talking to Ralph Schneider this summer and he has started at the Long Island College of Medicine in Brooklyn.

Sally McGarvey is continuing graduate study at Bucknell.

1952—Have really heard a lot about our newest alumni—Joe Wool is working for General Electric in department of commercial and government equipment.

Clay, N. Y. . . . Eleanor "Sis" Miller is putting her psychology to good use in working for the local Child Welfare Agency. . . . Ralph Marion is still studying psych, working for his master's degree at the University of Louisville. . . .

Harry Canon is up at State College working on his master's degree in psychology. . . . Jack Peril is studying medicine at Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia. . . .

Don Winstead is attending Drew Seminary as are John O'Neill and Earl Cavanaugh. By the way, we heard that John had a wonderful trip to Ireland—now our Irish tenor will be genuine. . . . Nancy Hall is working in Wilmington, Del., for DuPont and Herm McFadden is in the Navy.

Lynn Brooks is also going to Drew Seminary. Heard Coral Eaton is working in New York in the advertising field; she likes it very much. Run into Dick Dingle every now and then in town.

Nancy Hall is working for Phillips Supply House in town. The office staff had a letter from Barbara and Bill Hesch in Warren.

Rev. Fred Hickok is on campus every now and then and from all appearances married life seems to be agreeing with him. Fred Lake is working for DuPont and Bill Levegood is selling Army strong linoleum. Stanley McFarland is in Wesleyan University in Connecticut.

Jonathan Dotts was awarded the General Accounting Handbook, by the Pennsylvania Institutes of Accountants for outstanding work in accounting during his college career. Lee Pennebaker is going to Duquesne University as a teaching fellow to study for his master's degree in chemistry. Paul Sabin is going to take the fatal step into matrimony this month with Nancy Eisenhart.

Ex-'55 Bill Walters is going to Duke University for seminary. . . . Cay Wardner McDonald is living in California with Sam. . . . John Wise is in the service. Elizabeth Welch has just returned from a 3-month tour of Europe during which she had a very exciting experience. Going through the Red sector of Germany, their party ran into trouble about passports and were put off the train for awhile. Glad to note everything turned out happily and Elizabeth is home safely again.

Ex-'52—Bart Kramer was on campus for a few hours during August. He wanted to be remembered to everybody, and wishes he could be back. Bart is stationed in Fort Worth, Texas, with the Air Force.

Ex-'54—Betsy Lee McKay has entered the University of Pennsylvania to study ornithology.

Friends met again in the office of Dr. John W. Long this fall when Rev. Raymond Brown, '23, Tacoma Park, Md., and Dr. F. LaMont Henninger, '20, of Altoona brought their daughter and son respectively to enroll at Lycoming for the present scholastic year.
